The following defects in the form or contents of the international application have been noted:
see separate sheet

Re Item V

Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. The following documents have been considered for the purposes of this report:

D1: DE-C-72092

D2: DE-C-215843

D3: US-A-3012626

2. The present application does not meet the requirements of Article 33(2) PCT, because the subject-matter of claim 1 is not new in respect of prior art as defined in the regulations (Rule 64(1)-(3) PCT).
 - 2.1 Document D1 shows a fire escape apparatus with all features mentioned in claim 1. In particular, the known apparatus comprises a casing (K), a flexible ladder ("Strickleiter") and means (s,t,p) for deploying said ladder. The casing has a mouth and contains the flexible ladder when not in use. The deployment means includes a spacer means (t) and handle means (D) and may be reversibly reconfigured between a storage configuration and a deployed configuration.
3. Dependent claims 2 to 41 do not appear to contain any additional features which involve an inventive step by themselves, because the man skilled in the art would employ them, if required, on the basis of his expert knowledge even if they are not disclosed in or obvious from the cited state of the art. Thus, even a combination of the features set out in these claims with the features of the independent claim to which they refer would not lead to subject-matter involving an inventive step.
4. The subject-matter of all claims is of course industrially applicable.

Re Item VII

5. The features of the claims are not provided with reference signs placed in parentheses (Rule 6.2(b) PCT).
6. Contrary to the requirements of Rule 5.1(a)(ii) PCT, the relevant background art disclosed in the document D1 is not mentioned in the description, nor is this document identified therein.
